FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE

NEW MUSIC IN THE OLD MARKET
Minnesota Songwriter Nate Houge at Urban Abbey

Hitting the road with his wife's truck and a handful of guitars, Nate Houge is pulling up to Urban Abbey in Omaha's Old Market District on Friday April 19th for an evening of songs and stories beginning at 7pm.

Friday's concert will feature many of the poignant folk rock songs from his most recent album, "Reform Follows Function," as well as a sneak peak at songs from his forthcoming release, "Anchor" out this fall. Nate's solo acoustic concerts highlight his clever lyricism and underlying themes of hope and love for life and one another.

Living with his family and a couple of chickens in St. Paul MN, Nate Houge tours regularly as a full time singer songwriter performing in coffee shops, colleges, bars, and churches across the country. This year alone has allowed him to dip one toe in the Pacific and the other in the Atlantic, yet driving through the mid-west remains his favorite stomping grounds.
